Former Maid in Russell Home Is Found; Ready to Bare Secret
DARKYER FIGHTS TO PROVE "FRAME-UP"

FIGHT ON JOHNSON IN
3. COURTS

CHICAGO, Oct. 18.—The machinery of the municipal, state and federal courts was in motion today in the fight of Mrs. P. Cameron Johnson to prevent her daughter, Lottie Cameron, from becoming the wife of the negro housewife, Charles Johnson. The girl is now at the Federal building under special guard.

Here are the cases before the courts. Johnson is under arrest on a charge of abduction and held under $300 bonds for the municipal court for appearance on Monday. Mrs. Cameron is in the custody of the federal authorities under $10,000 bonds to testify as a material witness in a case next week.

Seek Family Test. Commenced to take a family test to a certain hospital to be excluded for her sanity have been found by Judge John D. Owens to be under special guard in the Federal building. The girl who says she is Lottie Cameron, the daughter of Johnson, who was a white woman, was committed to the Federal building, where she was kept in a cell, when she was reported in court as being under the care of the Federal authorities.

Girl Not a Minor. Mrs. Cameron, wearing jewels and ornaments formerly the property of Mrs. Rita Duray Johnson, late wife of the pugilist, appeared at the Clark street station today to meet Johnson.

At her almost hysterical mother came out, the girl hesitated and drew back. As Johnson emerged the heartbroken woman pleaded with her daughter to come home to Minneapolis with her.

Girl Lives After 45-Foot Tumble. Lottie, 18, McKinnon, fifteen years old, of No. 1 Malabar place, Roxbury, who fell forty-five feet from the roof of the Federal building where she was staying, is at the City Hospital today in a serious condition. It is feared that she sustained a fractured skull.

Colonel Answers Cooks' Union Wire. Mrs. Catherine, secretary of Cooks' Union No. 1, has received a letter from Mrs. E. Martin, secretary to Colonel Townsend, in answer to a telegram sent by the Cooks' Union, complaining the Colonel on his escape.

Hunt Lost Melrose Man in the Fells. The search of Moses B. Littlefield, fifty-nine year old, of Baxter street, Melrose, who is strongly believed to be responsible for the Metropolitan police and a police of children. The man was reported from his home two days ago while he is at of nervous depression, to believe to be just in the Middlesex Fells.

Miss Eliot Weds Pierce Today
Romance Began on World Tour

MISS ELIOT AND GRANDFATHER, PRESIDENT ELIOT.

Granddaughter of Charles W. Eliot Took Housekeeping Lessons Previous to Matrimony. Fortified by housekeeping lessons taken at her summer home at Mount Desert, Me., Miss Ruth Eliot, granddaughter of President Eliot, was married today to Roger Pierce of Milton.

The marriage culminates a romance begun on President Eliot's trip around the world, when his granddaughter accompanied him, while Pierce went along as his secretary. The engagement was announced when the party was in Shanghai, China, after Miss Eliot had suffered a protracted illness. When they returned to this country, while Pierce went along as his secretary.

Continued on Page 3, Column 5. Maroon of Children's Home. Mrs. J. H. O'Brien, wife of Capt. O'Brien, of the 1st Cavalry, is the mother of a child named O'Brien, who is now in the Middlesex Fells.

High Cost Living Hits Poor Twice as Hard as Rich

It is the poor mass of Boston who have been hit the hardest by the steadily advancing cost of living during the past season.

Figures compiled by Richard H. Huron, a mathematician of Russell Hall, show that the cost of the staples and small necessities are compelled to pay 108 per cent more for the cheaper staples than they were on their tables in 1906.

The same statistics show that the wealthy market pay just 54 per cent more for the cheaper staples than they were on their tables in 1906.

According to Mr. Huron, the comparative cost of the poor man's two weeks' provision bill in 1906 and 1912, is as follows:

	1906.	1912.

WILSON STATES TARIFF STAND

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 18.—Governor Wilson's vigorous declaration of his stand on the tariff question made a strong impression on those who heard him speak here. The Democratic party stands, said Governor Wilson, for a reconsideration of the tariff in order to adjust it to actual business conditions and the best interests of the country at large. Insisting that this could not come too soon, Governor Wilson said:

Declares His Attitude.
I welcome the opportunity of stating what I believe to be the well considered position of the Democratic party with regard to the tariff. It is absolutely essential that we should be entirely frank with one another in the discussion of this fundamental question.

The business men of the country owe it to themselves to face the facts as they are and to meet them in spirit of accommodation which has no touch either of timidity or of mere theoretical speculation.

The Democratic party does not propose free trade or arbitrary appropriation of free trade. It proposes merely a reconsideration of the tariff adjusted so as to adjust them to the actual business conditions and interests of the country.

Attacks Special Favors.
Every observant business man must have realized long ago that the tariff schedule was constructed in such a way that business was not upon a normal basis in the United States. It does not constitute a system of well considered protection. On the contrary, it is a hodgepodge of special favors, devised and carefully concealed special favors and particular groups of capitalists and manufacturers have taken advantage of these special favors to build monopolies upon the tariff.

These monopolies are not only a burden upon the people, but they are a hindrance to the development of the country. They are a hindrance to the development of the country. They are a hindrance to the development of the country. They are a hindrance to the development of the country.

It is not only a hindrance to the development of the country, but it is a hindrance to the development of the country. It is not only a hindrance to the development of the country, but it is a hindrance to the development of the country. It is not only a hindrance to the development of the country, but it is a hindrance to the development of the country.

Revision is Demanded.
It is obvious that the tariff schedule is a hindrance to the development of the country. It is a hindrance to the development of the country. It is a hindrance to the development of the country. It is a hindrance to the development of the country.

It is a hindrance to the development of the country. It is a hindrance to the development of the country. It is a hindrance to the development of the country. It is a hindrance to the development of the country. It is a hindrance to the development of the country.

It is a hindrance to the development of the country. It is a hindrance to the development of the country. It is a hindrance to the development of the country. It is a hindrance to the development of the country. It is a hindrance to the development of the country.

POLITICAL NEWS

Vote for Wilson, Foss, Walsh and Other Democratic Candidates
NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—Wilson will carry New York by a plurality of 300,000, it will not be long before the Wilsons will be in the White House, declared Chairman Rensselaer of the Democratic Executive Committee at the meeting of that organization at the Hotel Knickerbocker.

"When we have thought Rensselaer was an old politician," continued Mr. Mark, "when he said in the AMERICAN the other day that Wilson and Bailey would sweep this State by between 200,000 and 300,000 plurality, I took O'Connell as my conservative. Reports submitted to us by the twenty-five members of the State Executive Committee make it plain that there is tremendous reaction of popular sentiment. There is not the slightest shadow of doubt."

"The same conditions prevailed in Vermont last month," the anti-Taft forces carried the State," interrupted Senator John A. Macdonald.

"That is true," replied Chairman Mark, "but from the outset Senator Macdonald and Taft and Roosevelt would divide the Republican vote in New York. Our returns indicate that though the Republican majority is working on hard as it can, it has not more than 100,000 votes. The Democratic campaign and the recent action of the State Executive Committee show that 50 per cent of the Republican vote will be cast for Roosevelt."

There is only one man in a Progressive line in New York, he said, and that is Mr. Roosevelt. He is a Progressive Republican. He is a Progressive Republican. He is a Progressive Republican. He is a Progressive Republican.

It will get a large Democratic vote, Mr. Macdonald said. "If they get 2 per cent of the Democratic vote, they will get 10 per cent of the Republican vote," he said. "If they get 10 per cent of the Republican vote, they will get 50 per cent of the Democratic vote."

He sat silent for a moment and continued: "You're quite sure that you saw Danbreck, the deputy?"

"Saw him with my own eyes, governor."

"And you know that he has an appointment in Paris?"

"He's going to the theatre."

"The cook has been sent away. As for the valet, Leonard, who is Danbreck's confidential man, he'll wait for his master in Paris. They can't get back from town before one o'clock in the morning."

"But what?"

"He must reckon with a possible break of fancy on Danbreck's part, a change of mind, an unexpected return, and so on, and he has to have everything finished and done within an hour."

"The villa, Mr. Mather, is the villa of the two others, with the gardens touching on the other side. It is a young fellow of twenty, or twenty-two, with an attractive cast of feature and a supple and lithe frame. Vanchery, older, shorter, with grizzled hair and a pale sickly face."

"Well," asked Lupin, "did you see him, the deputy?"

"Yes, governor," said Gilbert, "we saw him take the 7:40 train for Paris. And now you see, we were free to act."

"Absolutely," the Villa Mather-brother came to do as we please with."

"The chauffeur had kept his seat. Lupin said to him: 'Don't wait here. It might be a trap. Be back in half an hour, past nine exactly, in time to load the car... unless the whole business falls through.'"

"Why should it fall through?"

"The motor drove away; and Lupin, taking the road back to the lake with his two companions, replied: 'Why? Because I don't prepare the plan; and when I don't do it myself, I am only half content.'"

"Nonsense, governor! I've been waiting for you for three years now... I'm beginning to lose the ropes!"

"And you're beginning," said Lupin, "and that's just why I said I'm a blunderer... Here, Vanchery, take the other load."

"I'll take it with me," said Vanchery, "and make all sorts of noise as you can."

KID WILLIAMS BEATS CHAMPION COULON

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—Kid Williams of Baltimore proved a rapier to John Coulon, the champion bantamweight, in a furious ten-round bout which went the limit at the Garden A. C. Williams gained the honors in six of the ten rounds. Coulon hit the better of the rounds and two seasons were even.

Williams defeated the champion decisively. He did not win the contest until the eighth round.

Coulon entered the ring weighing 111 1/4 pounds. Williams weighed 112 1/2 pounds.

Hooper Goes Fishing.

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—John McGraw, manager of the Giants, and Ben Johnson, president of the American League, bitter enemies for several years, have patched up their differences and are now on friendly terms. Johnson met McGraw on a train returning from Boston. They shook hands cordially and sat down for a chat.

McGraw complimented the American League umpires for their splendid work in the world series and also discussed the general play of both teams. He told Johnson that the Athletics of last year were the strongest ball club he had ever met, much stronger than the Red Sox. The Giants' manager also declared that Hooper's catch of Larry Doyle's great drive in Wednesday's game was the most sensational he ever had seen in his long career on the American League.

Johnson praised McGraw and the Giants for their gamesmanship and sportsmanship, so that everything was lovely.

Mr. Wilson Set One Good Example

How Nice if All Would Follow It Hereafter

Copyright, 1912, by American-Journal-Bureau.

Woodrow Wilson has done one good thing for national politics. He has shown that it is possible to make a highly successful campaign without convincing or trying to convince the public that all other candidates ought to be in jail.

He has reasoned his way through the campaign, with no bludgeon or highbinder methods.

He has admitted that his opponents might conceivably be respectable business men, although opposed to him, and he has relied on ideas and convictions for his success.

A pleasing novelty.

Now that Mr. Roosevelt is unable to continue the campaign—Mr. Taft being at no time an active campaigner—Mr. Wilson announces that he will at the earliest moment bring his own campaign of speech-making to a close, and do no more talking until Mr. Roosevelt is able to resume the battle.

"Good, how good and how pleasant it is for brethren to dwell together in unity," sang David.

Yes, indeed. How nice it would be if men could run for the White House as decently and respectably as though engaged in some quite reputable enterprise.

Mr. Wilson has set a good example.

Does Mr. Bird Still Favor the Control of the Boston & Maine by the New Haven?

Mr. Bird, the candidate of the new Progressive Party for Governor, is a sincere and high-minded man. The movement which has created the new party springs from the patriotic impulse of sincere and high-minded men.

These facts the AMERICAN would not gainsay, but they are not enough to justify party success. Wolsey's advice to Cromwell: "Let all the ends thou aim'st at be thy country's, thy God's, and truth's; then if thou fall'st, O Cromwell, thou fall'st a blessed martyr!" is not sufficient for a political party, for the end of a political party is not martyrdom.

If Wolsey had been advising a political party, he would have recognized the necessity of success as another requisite. It is not sufficient for a political party to convince us that it INTENDS to be right. It must convince us that it IS RIGHT.

Therefore, while respecting the character and the purposes of Mr. Bird and those fellow citizens who are allied with him on the Bull Moose ticket, the AMERICAN proposes during the course of this campaign to ask them a few pertinent questions. These questions will relate to local, not national issues, for the people of Massachusetts vote for Mr. Bird will do so upon local issues. Recognizing this fact, the Bull Moose State Convention which nominated Mr. Bird has presented to the voters of the State, in its platform, certain local issues.

It is the absence of any declaration upon a few very important and pressing issues which leads the AMERICAN to inquire of Mr. Bird why they have been omitted and what Mr. Bird's attitude is towards them.

It cannot have escaped Mr. Bird and his party that the New Haven Railroad monopoly has been a vital and irrepressible problem in the public mind for several years; that the New Haven, like a great, strange, omnivorous creature, has been swallowing up every sort of quasi-public corporation within its field of operation; that during the last session of the Legislature the Commonwealth was saved from the loss of its street railways to the New Haven in more than half the area of the State, only by the courageous veto of the Trolley Men; that by Governor Fox; that by the service on the New Haven as the Boston & Maine, now in the control of the New Haven, has deteriorated so much that the business men have refused to submit to it any longer and, through the Chamber of Commerce, are making their protest to the Interstate Commerce Commission; that the New Haven has been piling up its debt in the pursuit of its wild scheme of monopoly until it is not now able to earn the dividends which it is declaring; that under the control of the New Haven, the stock of the Boston & Maine has fallen from more than one hundred and sixty to a little more than ninety dollars a share, and millions of dollars in the value of this stock, held by New England people, has shrunk in their hands; that while wasting its money in overpaying for street railways and other victims of its monopolistic hunger, the New Haven Road has neglected to heed the suggestion of the Interstate Commerce Commission for the protection of its tracks, and now in three identical accidents, according to Commissioner McChord, it has killed twenty people and injured more than one hundred.

These facts indicate a condition intolerable to the interests of New England and, particularly, of Massachusetts.

Conscious of the far-reaching and public-spirited character of Mr. Bird and of the men in the new party who are its dynamic force, we should sorely hesitate to assume that Mr. Bird would be found ready to do his part in the effort which Governor Fox and the Democratic party propose to make this year to stop the depredations of this omnivorous railroad monopoly.

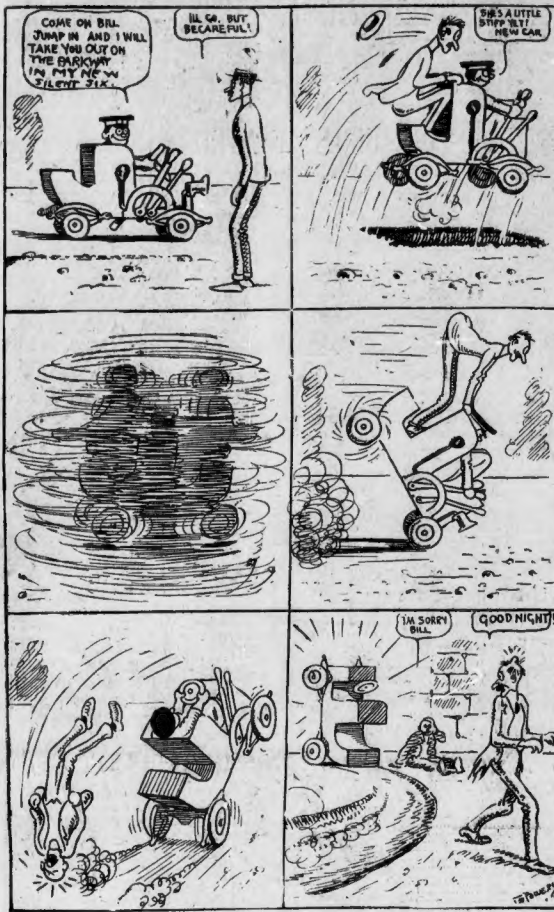

We should not take the trouble to inquire of Mr. Bird what is his attitude on this question, if Mr. Bird had not several years ago declared in favor of the control of the Boston & Maine by the New Haven. Honest men often cling to their first opinions longer than is wise, and we would like to know if Mr. Bird is of the same opinion still.

Both the Republican and the Democratic parties have taken their stand on this most important public question which now confronts the people of Massachusetts. Mr. Walker, the Republican candidate, has declared in favor of the consolidation of the Boston & Maine with the New Haven. He is so well satisfied with the good intentions and good behavior of the New Haven that he wants to put it forever beyond the power of the people of Massachusetts to separate these two roads.

The Democratic party, under the leadership of Governor Fox, has declared that the condition of things created by this monopoly must cease. The Republican party has declared that it should go on.

Where does the new party stand? What would Mr. Bird do if he were elected? If Mr. Bird and his party are wrong on this disagreeable issue, it makes little difference how honestly they are wrong. The people may respect them, but unless they are right they will not trust them with power.

It Might Have Been Worse.

Little Girl Sets Example of Courage in Making Money at Home

Special Announcement to Women Who Earn Money at Home

One Dollar will be paid for every letter contributed by Boston AMERICAN readers, and used in the AMERICAN, containing ideas helpful to those WOMEN WHO WISH TO EARN MONEY AT HOME. This department is organized to help women help themselves. It will suggest opportunities for money-making and will help those who wish to develop up the ideas they are now using in their homes for increasing their incomes. Won't you please tell us what you are doing and why you are doing it, so that we may be of service to some woman who is struggling in the dark and who needs our help? Address MABEL BARCLAY URY, Boston AMERICAN.

By MABEL BARCLAY URY

Of course I might edit this little letter from Aurora Howard (what a beautiful name that is, too!) and thus exercise my knowledge of "English as she is spoke" in the English literature classes out at Harvard. But if I did that I would be denying the convenience of a child's message—something even a newspaper person hasn't the courage to do. Aurora Howard lives in Fitchburg. She is twelve, going on thirteen. Some day she is going to be a very helpful woman. You know that old, old saying, "As the twig is bent, so is the tree inclined." This sounds awfully preachy, but it popped right into my mind when I read Aurora's little letter. If the saying is true, this little girl, who has started so early to be a money-earner and helpful neighbor, will one day be a gloriously self-reliant, self-supporting worker.

To my way of thinking, she deserves to be encouraged. She deserves to be helped. And when I say that she deserves to be helped, I mean that she should be given opportunities to help herself. It is an opportunity to be of service. Aurora has found her little chance. She will find greater ones later on.

What a gorgeous creature I am! How I go wondering on in a morning manner about a little girl who is quite capable of telling you her own story in her own way. And it is in her own way that she shall tell it. Now listen to her first little letter.

What a Little Girl Does.
I am twelve years old, and help mother at home after school by taking care of the laundry, and after that I am a girl. If there are any little boys that I see them up, and see the odds; and I make up as high as $12.00 a week, and mother is very fond of me for making that much for her. The little is a very great help for her. I get twenty-five cents a pair for the work. My name is AURORA HOWARD. No. 1 Dumas street, Fitchburg, Mass.

Save Tennis Balls.
I save money at home by saving tennis balls, which are delivered and called for at your own house. The balls come all made except the seam around the ball, which you sew. The work is clean, easy and very fascinating, and you have no cutting out or bother in any way. They come one dozen in a box, and the time spent on the balls is paid every month. I can sew twenty down a week and do all my work at home, and at the end of the month have the tidy sum of $12. If you care to go to spend an afternoon away, just think of me, or two in your big school in your afternoon thirty or forty cents. MRS. E. G. COLLINS. No. 174 Elmwood avenue, Boston, Mass.

From House to House.
My work is house to house canvassing for a Boston wholesale house. I work on commission and can make from two to three dollars per day in spare time. My children are all going to school and I can only get out to house while they are in school. I have six in my family to cook for and seven rooms to take care of and I get very tired sometimes, but I

If you care to go to spend an afternoon away, just think of me, or two in your big school in your afternoon thirty or forty cents. MRS. E. G. COLLINS. No. 174 Elmwood avenue, Boston, Mass.

Save Tennis Balls.
I save money at home by saving tennis balls, which are delivered and called for at your own house. The balls come all made except the seam around the ball, which you sew. The work is clean, easy and very fascinating, and you have no cutting out or bother in any way. They come one dozen in a box, and the time spent on the balls is paid every month. I can sew twenty down a week and do all my work at home, and at the end of the month have the tidy sum of $12. If you care to go to spend an afternoon away, just think of me, or two in your big school in your afternoon thirty or forty cents. MRS. E. G. COLLINS. No. 174 Elmwood avenue, Boston, Mass.
